PCI Pal shortlisted for Comms Business Awards 2018

PCI Pal, the secure payment solutions provider for contact centres, has been announced as a shortlisted company for the 2018 Comms Business Awards, for its 'Security' award category.

PCI Pal, with its cloud-based Agent Assist solution, has been shortlisted for its work in enabling organisations that operate contact centres to take card payments securely over the phone to help safeguard the entire process. As well as enhancing customer experience, the PCI Pal solutions improve payment card security, reduce average call handling times and support businesses with PCI DSS compliance.

Comms Business is proud to promote success stories, technology advancement and disruption in one of the most dynamic business sectors in the UK. Its awards recognise excellence in the ICT channel and are designed to showcase the very best channel suppliers, resellers, products and people in the space.

Commenting on being announced as a finalist, Tony Smith, Sales Director – EMEA at PCI Pal said: "It's a great achievement to be shortlisted for the Comms Business Awards's 'Security' category. We work collaboratively with both our partners and customers to deliver vendor-agnostic PCI compliant solutions that provide complete peace-of-mind regarding PCI DSS compliance. In today's world where data breaches are regularly in the news, we are proud to be supporting organisations in safeguarding their customers' payment card data."

The winners will be announced on Thursday 21st June at a gala reception in London, hosted by TV personality David Mitchell.
