PCI Pal® shortlisted for Enterprise Security Solution award at Security Excellence Awards 2021

PCI Pal, [LON:PCIP] the global provider of cloud-based secure payment solutions, has been announced as a finalist in Computing's Security Excellence Awards 2021, specifically in the 'Enterprise Security Solution Award' category.

With cybersecurity touching every area of business, a robust security strategy is critical to survival in the modern world. The Computing Security Excellence Awards recognises and rewards the companies, people, products and projects that help keep organisations and their customers safe, and celebrates the achievements of the overall security industry.

PCI Pal Agent Assist was nominated for its role in helping organisations to ensure that remote workers were able to continue handling customer payments in a PCI compliant and secure way, having transitioned to home working throughout the pandemic.

Jane Goodayle, SVP - Global Marketing, PCI Pal said, "We have supported many large enterprises across the globe in maintaining the ability to not only handle customers' card payments securely, but importantly ensuring they are compliant with the requirements of PCI DSS. We are therefore very proud to be shortlisted for the Computing Security Excellence Awards, for its Enterprise Security Solution category, in recognition of our team's efforts."

Winners of the #SecurityExcellenceAwards will be announced on 1st December 2021 via the publication of an online awards eBook. For more information visit https://event.computing.co.uk/securityexcellenceawards/en/page/2021-finalists.
